

MARSHALL TAYLOR PARK

---

HISTORY:

Marshall E. Taylor, two-time mayor of Walled Lake (1961-1961 and 1971-1973), was first elected to the Walled Lake City Council in 1954. Dedicated to public service, Marshall E. Taylor also served on the Oakland Country Board of Supervisors (1954-1969), was three time Mayor Pro-Tem, Street Administrator, member of the Public Safety Committee, member of the Walled Lake Optimist's Club, functioned as a school crossing guard, and even found time to direct traffic at St. Williams Parish on Sunday mornings.

Named in honor of a most dedicated and civic-minded leader, Marshall Taylor Park sits atop an abandoned subdivision well. The first trickle of City water sealed the fate of the old well. The land was developed into a park - Marshall Taylor Park. Walled Lake City Council, Parks and Recreation Commission, and Department of Public Works, combined forces to completely refurbish Marshall Taylor Park in 1997-1998. The park was rededicated, in honor of Marshall E. Taylor, July 27, 1997.
